

LABOR

AND CAPITAL ARE HOLDING A CONFERENCE

NATIONAL CIVIC FEDERATION IN SESSION.

BIG CAPITALISTS ARE PRESENT.

And Other Persons, Including Senator Hanna, Who is Playing a New Role.

New York, Dec. 16.—A highly important conference between labor and capital began this morning in this city. It was the opening session of the industrial department of the national civic federation and Oscar S. Strauss presided. The sessions will last two days and the object is to devise means to bring labor and capital into close relations with a view of preventing strikes. Senator Hanna, Chas. M. Schwab, president of the steel trust; Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, Archbishop Ireland and Bishop Potter will speak before the conference. Prof. Felix Adler and U. S. Commissioner of Labor Carroll D. Wright, will speak at the sessions. Several labor representatives from the west reached here this morning. Senator Hanna who arrived here last night said this morning: "I am more than interested in this matter as the problem involved in the relation between capital and labor is one of the most important now awaiting solution. This is the first time any serious effort on broad lines has been made to bring capital and labor to an understanding calculated to prevent strikes. I have not come here as the advocate of any particular scheme. The plan to be adopted is a matter of discussion and deliberation."

"I would rather have the credit of making successful the movement to bring labor and capital into closer relations of confidence and reliance than be President of the United States. If by resigning my seat in the United States senate I could bring to fruition the plans that we are fostering to make strikes, lockouts and great labor disputes impossible, I would gladly do so. I would want no greater monument than to have the world remember that I did something to end wars between American labor and American capital."

It was 10:45 when the meeting was called to order. Gompers and some other labor leaders, who were snow-bound, could not reach the meeting, but it will be held together till they arrive. Bishop Potter in a speech, said the trend toward arbitration showed the right spirit. He said the whole trouble arose through a lack of human contact. "Capital does not know labor nor labor capital," Senator Hanna spoke and the remark was received with great enthusiasm. He said in 1874 he met the labor union to talk over differences and from that day he firmly believed in organized labor. "While life remains within me I shall do my best to bring about closer relations between capital and labor," said Senator Hanna. Many other speeches were made tending in the same direction.

Eight Killed.

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 16.—An inquest is now being held on the Illinois Central wreck but not much progress can be made till Conductor Ostand of the freight is located. He disappeared after the accident. It is believed that he misunderstood his orders. The loss of life will reach eight. The injured are all doing well.

SHORTAGE OF GAS.

Hartford City, Ind., Dec. 16.—All business is practically suspended here on account of cold. The gas companies are short and there is much suffering among all classes because of the lack of gas supply. Several factories are closed. Herbert Davidson, 23 years old, was found frozen in a corn field.

The doctor is a sort of pillar of society.

DISPUTE

Between Chile and Argentine May Shortly be Arranged on a Friendly Basis.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 16.—Although the situation between the Argentine republic and Chile has improved, it has not yet been clearly defined. The council of Argentine ministers has spent much time in studying the paragraphs of the Chilean note, which form the basis of that country's proposition, an agreement upon which would mean the solution of the pending difficulties. The council has decided to accept the first paragraph concerning the construction of roads. The compilation of the second paragraph, referring to the pretended occupation by the Argentine republic of Chilean territory at Ultima Esperanza, is not acceptable to the ministers. The assurance is given that the Argentine government, replying to this paragraph, will answer that it is impossible for it to recognize an act which, after investigation, has been disproved. The hope prevails here that everything will be arranged on a friendly basis within a few days.

Dangerous Fire.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—The four-story apartment building known as the Olinger flats was burned. The 60 tenants, most of whom were asleep, were aroused by the dense smoke, and many narrow escapes from death were spectacular and exciting. So far as reported every one left the building by fire escapes or by ladders hoisted to the upper windows by firemen, but much suffering was caused by exposure to the intense cold in scant attire. The attendant cold weather was responsible for the fire. Complaints from the tenants that the building was insufficiently heated caused the janitor, John West, to overheat the furnaces in the basement, where the fire started.

ANOTHER BIG STEEL COMBINE

This One is Organized in London to Fight the American Steel Trust.

London, Dec. 16.—The Anglo-Spanish Steel Combine to fight J. P. Morgan's Steel Trust was formed today. The new syndicate is capitalized at $12,500,000. It includes S. H. Graves, of Chicago, C. F. North, of the Yukon Railway and Navigation Co., Sam Roberts, Lord Mayor of Sheffield, Eng., and several big steel firms in England and Spain.

London, Dec. 16.—The proposed combine is for the purpose of fighting J. P. Morgan and his associates in the U. S. Steel corporation in their operations in England and the report of which was published in these dispatches some months ago, took definite form today, when a company, the object of which is to put Spanish iron on the English markets was registered at the Spanish consulate in London.

BAD FIRE.

Flames Lick up the General Store and Grocery of L. Larason at St. Louisville.

St. Louisville, O., Dec. 16.—The grocery and general store of Mr. L. Larason, of this place, was totally destroyed by fire about four o'clock this morning. The loss will amount to about $1000, on which there is an insurance on the building of $350. The insurance on the stock of goods run out the first of the month, and had not been renewed. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Consistory at Rome.

Rome, Dec. 16.—The Pope held a secret consistory today, and created fourteen residential and three titular bishops, two new dioceses in Brazil, and one in Columbia. Mgr. Sharveti was relieved of the arch-bishopric of Havana and given the titular arch-bishopric of Contina; the Very Rev. J. J. O'Connor was created bishop of Newark, N. J., to succeed the late Bishop Wigger; Mgr. O'Connell, formerly rector of the American College at Rome, was created Bishop of Portland, Me.; and Thos. P. Muldoon was appointed co-adjutor to Arch-Bishop Patrick A. Feenan of Chicago.

The pontiff is enjoying remarkably good health and surprised all by his vigor and lucidity of his mind.

Russia is believed to be making a great effort to get within her control the overland China tea trade.

WEEK IN CONGRESS

Hay-Pauncefote Treaty in Senate. Philippines Tariff to be Rushed Through the House.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The house this week will pass the bill to provide temporary revenues for the Philippine islands, which was reported from the ways and means committee last Friday. Under the agreement made general debate will extend throughout Tuesday and until 4 o'clock Wednesday, when a vote will be taken. There will be no opportunity to amend the measure. There will be a break in the party lines on both sides of the house. Mr. McCall of Massachusetts, the Republican member of the ways and means committee, who opposed the Porto Rican bill during the last congress, will speak against the measure, and will be supported in his dissent from his Republican colleagues by Mr. Littlefield of Maine, and perhaps several other Republicans who opposed the Porto Rican bill, and who hold that a similar issue is presented at this time. On the Democratic side Mr. Robertson, a member of the ways and means committee, will support the bill, and the remainder of the Louisiana delegation will do likewise. Representing the cane sugar interests of their state, they are opposed to concessions on sugar duties either from the Philippines or Cuba.

Debates on Hay Treaty.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The disposition of the senate is to do very little business beyond acting upon the Hay-Pauncefote treaty before adjournment for the holidays. In accordance with the agreement reached Friday the treaty will be voted on before the senate adjourns today. Senator Teller made the first speech of the day and he was followed by other senators with brief speeches. The opponents of the treaty admit there is no doubt of ratification. There will very likely be action on a number of nominations, and the chances are that Attorney General Knox's nomination will be among those to receive attention. The introduction of resolutions bearing on the case of Admiral Schley is also among the probabilities, but no action in that direction is anticipated for the present.

EARTHQUAKE

Which Excited People at Manila General Funston Rushes to Gov. Taft's Aid.

Manila, Dec. 16.—An earthquake which lasted 65 seconds and extended over a very wide area occurred here Sunday. The people were terrified and rushed from the churches, hotels and houses, many of them falling on their knees and praying in the streets. Quite a number were injured. General Funston, who was occupying a ward in the hospital near that occupied by Governor Taft, rushed with nurses and stewards and attempted to remove the Governor, but Governor Taft decided to remain in the hospital until later. During the afternoon he was permitted to return to the Malacanang palace, but he will have to remain abed for some time.

Charges Ignored

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Senate committee on judiciary has decided to ignore the charges cited against Attorney General Knox by the Anti-Trust League and to allow its former unanimous recommendation for his confirmation to stand as the sense of the committee.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Dec. 16.—In accordance with a previous agreement, the Senate convened this morning at 11 o'clock in order to clear away the morning business so that consideration of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty might be brought to a conclusion and a vote reached today.

ANOTHER MURDER

In a China Town Opium Joint and San Francisco Police Have no Clue to the Perpetrator.

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—Wong Fook a Chinese cook, was murdered by an unknown highbinder in an opium den last night. His head was severed from his body with a meat ax. This is the seventeenth murder this year resulting from the war of the Tongs and the police are without a clue to any of the crimes.

The war is causing a stagnation of business in Chinatown.

SCHLEY.

FURTHER PROCEEDINGS MAY BE HAD.

SECRETARY LONG HOLDS COURT OF INQUIRY REPORT.

SCHLEY TO FILE OBJECTIONS.

Asks Secretary Long to Hold Court's Finding Until He Has Time to Prepare Statement.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Secretary Long stated this morning that he still had the report of the Schley court of inquiry under consideration. As yet Admiral Schley had made no protest against the findings of the court. "Should he make such promptly and officially," said the Secretary, "I would be perfectly willing to grant him a few inquiries."

ADMIRAL SCHLEY'S STATEMENT.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Admiral Schley and a counsel of friends, consisting of Attorney Rayner, M. A. Tague, Rayner's assistant, Congressman Schirm and Felix Angus, met today and endorsed a letter sent by Admiral Schley to Secretary Long requesting Long to withhold his approval of the findings of the Schley court till Schley has time to file a statement of objections, and further asks that the court be not dissolved until action can be taken on such objections. Schley's statement will probably be filed Thursday or Friday.

"METHOD OF EMPIRE INSTEAD OF REPUBLIC."

Such is the Republican Tariff for the Philippines--Vigorous Report by Democratic Minority--Our Paltry Trade with Islands Not Worth Cost in Blood and Treasure.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Democratic policy in the House with reference to the Philippines was formally outlined today by the minority report of the Ways and Means Committee on the Philippine tariff bill. The report reads in part:

"The measure is but another step in the well-marked line of imperialism. It is enacting a policy of pure colonialism, and the worst form of that policy. We are opposed to our Government attempting to hold territories as colonies and treating the inhabitants thereof as subjects and imposing upon them a government of force. This is the method of the empire instead of that of the republic."

"We oppose the whole policy of the majority in dealing with the Philippine archipelago. We believe that instead of the effort they are making to set up and hold permanent colonies there we should long since have inaugurated a policy assuring the people of those islands a stable government and their ultimate independence. The colonial plan set up by this bill is unjust and illiberal in the extreme."

Greater Power Than Most Kings.

The report says the Secretary of War in effect made the tax law for the Philippines, and thus exercised greater power than most kings. On the subject of applying the Dingley tariff the report says: "The Dingley act has proved itself a trust-breeding measure, and continues:

"We do not believe that the trade we are now obtaining or that we are likely to obtain under our operations in the Philippines is worth what we are paying for it."

The report then shows that the United States shared in the Philippine trade last year to the extent of $5,127,506, representing profits to our government or people of about $1,083,541.

"This paltry sum," it says, "is insignificant when we consider the other side of the account. It has cost us more than $85,000,000 to maintain our army in the Philippines for the past

Goes to Washington to Confer on the Great Fight Between Hanna and Foraker.

Cincinnati, Dec. 16.—George B. Cox and other Republican leaders will go to Washington this week to confer with Ohio's senators and other noted generals of the party. Owing to the contest between the friends of Senator Foraker and of Senator Hanna over the organization of the legislature, there is an unusual agitation all over the state. The long distance telephone has been in use daily between Washington and Ohio cities, and especially with certain Republicans at Columbus and Cincinnati, and now it is reported that there may be another attempt to compromise by a conference in Washington before the Republican caucuses are held at Columbus two weeks from next Saturday. If no compromise is made it is reported that both Senators Foraker and Hanna may come to Columbus after congress adjourns for the holidays, to marshal their respective forces for the caucus contests.

COLD WEATHER

Unprecedented Drop in the Thermometer for This Time of the Year.

The present cold snap is unprecedented in this locality for its extreme suddenness and coming at this time of the year. Friday evening, Dec. 13, the thermometer registered about 60 degrees above zero, and it was warm and raining, so much so that it was uncomfortably warm in some of the lodge rooms, especially. The windows were opened and some of the members used fans. Saturday evening the thermometer tumbled to zero, and this Monday a number of thermometers in this vicinity registered as low as ten and twelve degrees below zero.

ACROSS THE OCEAN

Inventor Marconi Sends Signals Without Aid of Wires—Further Experiments to be Made.

St. Johns, Dec. 16.—Signor Marconi announced the most wonderful scientific discovery of modern times in stating that he had received electric signals across the Atlantic ocean from his station in Cornwall, England. Marconi's station in Cornwall is most powerful. Before he left England he arranged that the electrician in charge of the station, which is located at Poldhu, should begin sending signals daily after a certain date. On two days the past week the tests were made. From a high bluff on the coast on this side Marconi elevated a kite with an aerial wire. Signals were received from England. These signals consisted of repeating at intervals the letter "S," which in Marconi's code is made by three dots or quick strokes. Mr. Marconi has made a further explanation of his transoceanic signals. He said he expected them to be stronger than they were. He attributes their faintness to mid-ocean wind currents and imperfections in his kite apparatus. He expects better tests if the weather obbles his balloon to ascend. Foggy conditions will give better signals than will clear atmosphere. Mr. Marconi goes to Cape Spear, there to select a site for the erection of a pole 200 feet high, which he is confident will give the most ample results possible under the present conditions.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL PLANS

BILL INTRODUCED BY SENATOR MORGAN, OF ALABAMA.

The Probable Basis of Congressional Legislation—United States Sovereignty Over Ceded Territory.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Nicaragua canal bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Morgan, of Alabama will probably form the basis of isthmian canal legislation, and may become a law as presented, with some modifications. A canal bill has also been introduced in the House by Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, similar to the bill that was passed by the House hastily at the last session, somewhat as a challenge of the first Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and was not acted on by the Senate.

The Morgan bill is to be considered as the one most likely to be approved by Congress. It designates the Nicaraguan territory through which the canal is to pass as the "canal belt." Nicaragua has practically ceded to the United States sovereignty over this strip from ocean to ocean, which is to be six miles wide. The Morgan bill fixes $180,000,000 as the amount to be expended for canal purposes, of which $5,000,000 is to be immediately available for starting the work. For purposes of construction the bill creates a canal board, of which the secretary of war is to be president. Eight other members are to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. The terms of their service is to be five years, and their compensation $8,000 a year. This board is to govern the canal belt, locate the canal, construct and equip it. The board will be the most important in its powers and expenditures ever authorized by our government. The chief justice of the United States and the secretaries of state and war, are to comprise a board for the government of the canal, and are authorized to report to Congress a bill establishing courts in the canal belt. The work of constructing the canal is to be divided into three divisions, with an engineer in chief in charge of the whole work, and two assistants for each division. The bill also authorizes that at least one full regiment of United States troops shall be located on the canal belt to perform police duty and preserve order.

"We do not believe that the people of those islands can be made citizens of our Republic without gross injustice to our people and without doing violence and perhaps irreparable injury to our institutions; nor can we hold them as subjects without the most radical changes in our form and theory of government, which we are unwilling to see inaugurated."

Vote to Be Taken Wednesday.

This minority report, with the majority report, which was mainly perfunctory, accompanied the Philippine tariff bill when it was reported to the House Friday. By unanimous consent an order for consideration of the bill on Tuesday and Wednesday this week was adopted, general debate to close at 4 p. m. Wednesday, when the bill will be placed upon its passage.

At the final consideration of the measure in committee Representative Robertson (Dem., La.) announced that he would vote for the bill in the House, and Representative McCall (Rep., Mass.) announced that he would vote against it. With these exceptions the Republicans of the committee expressed themselves in favor of the measure and the Democrats opposed to it, and by a vote of 7 to 5 on party lines, McCall and Robertson answering "Present!" but not voting, the bill was ordered reported.

KURTZ

FIRES BACK A SHOT AT HANNA.

DEFENDS HIS CONDUCT FOUR YEARS AGO.

IN FIGHTING HANNA'S ELECTION.

Still Claims Hanna Succeeded by Fraud.—Also Claims Credit for 50 Year Franchise Repeat.

Columbus, Dec. 16.—Hon. Charles L. Kurtz contributed to the literature of the legislative contest today a spicy reply to some observations of Senator Hanna published yesterday in a Toledo special to a Cincinnati paper. Mr. Hanna had written a letter to a Toledo friend in which he had pointed out the danger to himself in the present situation by affirming that if the Kurtz-Foraker people should organize the present legislature the association of Kurtz with that success would so disgust Republicans that they would stay away from the polls two years hence, imperiling the Republican state ticket and insuring the election of a Democratic legislature and a Democratic senator to succeed Hanna.

To this Mr. Kurtz replies that he is not ashamed of the record made by the only legislature he ever organized, namely that of four years ago. The first act of that body, he says, was to repeal the fifty year franchise law, which he alleges Senator Hanna had passed to promote his own interests. Kurtz says that this law was repealed at his (Kurtz's) request. He declares the party is also ready to go before the people on the record made by the senate of that body in investigating Senator Hanna's election and finding him guilty of procuring it by fraud.

The Kurtz-Foraker people are evidently determined to keep the ball rolling as long as the other side can be induced to talk.

FOUR TIMES

THIS CONDEMNED MAN'S EXECUTION IS POSTPONED.

Italian Murderer Was to Have Been Electrocuted in Mass. Today—Dying of Consumption.

Boston, Dec. 16.—Luigi Storti, the Italian murderer who was to have been electrocuted at the Massachusetts state prison after midnight this morning, as the first victim of the electric chair in this state, is still alive. At the last moment Warden Bridges decided to postpone the execution. He gave no reason, but it is believed that he feared Storti, who is suffering from consumption, would collapse. The warden's action, adds another chapter to the remarkable case. Storti has been condemned to die four times, and each time respite and stays were obtained. The case was even carried to the supreme court of the United States. It has been believed that the condemned man would soon die of consumption, and thus avoid the chair. It has been the hardest fought criminal case in the history of Massachusetts. The execution will probably take place tomorrow.

Killed by Wreck.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 16.—Lake Shore train No. 322, from Toledo ran down three men who were walking on the track near Detroit early this morning. Charles Derosier was instantly killed. Fred Weisner died from his injuries and Ernest Hemselman, is thought to be fatally injured. All three are laborers with homes in Delray, a Detroit suburb.

TWENTY HURT.

Elwood, Ind., Dec. 16.—There was a panic at the Holiness Christian church last night. Smoke from burning wood outside caused a fire alarm. About twenty were more or less injured, but none fatally.

TARIFF FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

The Supreme court has decided in effect that the Philippine Islands are American territory, and that under present conditions this government has no right to collect duties on importations therefrom. The court holds that the constitution and the laws of the United States applied to the Philippines the moment the treaty was ratified; that the islands at once became a part of the United States. The case upon which this decision was rendered is known as the diamond ring case. The government tried to impose a customs duty upon certain diamond rings which a soldier purchased at Manila after the ratification of the treaty of peace and brought to this country. The soldier claimed the right to bring these rings to the states free of duty on the ground that the Philippines are American territory, and it is unlawful and unconstitutional to levy a customs duty on articles carried from one locality to another in the country. This contention the Supreme court upholds in this case, as it did in one of the Porto Rican cases; but as we understood it this condition of freedom of trade exists only so long as congress refrains from imposing a tariff.

But the Republican leaders in Congress propose to rush through a special tariff law for the Philippines without delay.

The decision is rendered by a divided court. Justice Brown voted as he did last spring—first with the four judges who are for uniform laws and no tariff at all, and second with the four judges who would give the government arbitrary power over the "colonies." His distinction seems to be that while the Philippine Islands are part of the United States, they may be legislated against as though they were a foreign country, though they are denied the right of a foreign country to retaliate. This is a peculiar position and one that it seems impossible to reconcile with the constitution. As the Chicago Record-Herald, a Republican paper, says, the stronger reasoning "is with the judges who believe that uniform federal laws should apply to all American territory, and the subject still remains to be discussed as a question of policy before congress. That body will find itself in a very peculiar and embarrassing position if it takes to enacting discriminating tariff legislation for the Philippines. If for the Philippines why not for any other territory of the United States? If for any other territory why not for any separate state of the Union?"

If congress keeps its hands off, then according to the court's decision, we will continue to have free trade with the Philippines. Our present robber tariff law does not apply—there must be special legislation.

In other words the flag carries the constitution with it so long as congress does not interfere.

But the arbitrary Republican majority in Congress propose to interfere. They have already introduced their high wall tariff measure and it is their purpose to railroad it through Congress in the most high handed manner. As the Democratic minority rightfully declare, it is "method of empire instead of republic."

Some Questions for Congress.
(Albany Argus.)

Did MacLay tell the truth when he called Admiral Schley a coward? Is it probable that he made such a charge without being inspired to do so? Who inspired him to insult Admiral Schley? What are the contents of the letters from "certain naval officers," which MacLay claims to possess, approving his conduct in this matter? Finally, if there are no such letters, and if there was no inspiration back of MacLay's charges, why is he still retained in the employ of the navy department?

UNITED UNDER THE DEMOCRATIC BANNER.

The opposition members of the present Congress, whether known in the past as Democrats, Populists or silver Republicans, appear to be thoroughly united under the Democratic banner for the work of the present session. There are two stray sheep in the Senate, one hitherto a Republican and the other a Democrat—Wellington, of Maryland, and McLaurin, of South Carolina, who appear to have dissolved connections with their former political associates and set up an independent organization for each other. Wellington is not wanted in the Republican caucus, nor McLaurin in the Democratic. Neither party is desirous of their association. Senator Teller, of Colorado, an able and experienced senator, and formerly a cabinet officer under a Republican administration, has allied himself with the Democrats by attending the Democratic caucus. At their conference on Wednesday the sentiment was unanimous that the Democratic senators should present a united front during the present session. In the House there is the same harmony, and party divisions in both branches will be on old party lines, with the Populists and silver Republicans submerged in the stronger organizations.

A dispatch from Washington Monday says that the Republicans decided to take Senator McLaurin into their party fold and give him assignments on the majority end of committees. Wellington, however, is still not wanted by either party.

Some time ago the German emperor was quoted as saying that if a provision forbidding the renewal of the commercial treaties should be incorporated in the pending tariff bill he would "smash the whole thing." The agrarians, who are the ones most interested in the bill, insist that such a provision shall be incorporated. Like our protectors, they insist that they have a right to the home market all to themselves. Such being the situation, if the opponents of the bill are wise in their generation they will let the agrarians put that provision in the bill and trust the emperor to "smash the whole thing," unless they are pretty sure they can smash the whole thing themselves and save the emperor the trouble.

One of the amusing features of the sanguinary factional fight now going on between the Hanna and Foraker forces in Ohio are the various excuses each side make for beginning the contest. Of course the fight means more than the scramble for the few little offices in the gift of the Legislature. There is no doubt whatever that the Forakerites began to plan to overthrow Hanna's control in Ohio immediately after McKinley's death.

High moral Republican rule (so called) in Boston fell far short of sincerity in the eyes of the people. They pronounced it hypocrisy of the deepest dye, and they didn't stop till they condemned the pharisaical corruption by a change of 22,000 votes.

POETIC MR. BOWSER

HE TRIES TO WRITE A $500 PRIZE POEM FOR A MAGAZINE.

His Efforts Fail to Meet With the Approval of Mrs. Bowser, but the Old Man Keeps at It Until Grim Despair Overcomes Him.

[Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.]

MR. BOWSER'S face wore a rather anxious look as he reached home the other evening, and Mrs. Bowser was wondering if business had gone wrong when he asked: "Is any one coming in this evening that you know of?" "No, no one," she replied. "I'm glad of that. I've got a little matter on hand and want you to help me. I'll explain all about it after dinner."

When dinner was over and they returned to the sitting room, he produced a magazine and pointed to a page and said:

"You see here that the Pocahontas society advertises a prize of five hundred dollars for the best poem on Pocahontas sent in within thirty days. It is to be printed in green and gold and sent out as a souvenir of the fiftieth anniversary of the society."

"Yes, I see."

"There's five hundred dollars to be picked up as easy as rolling off a log, to say nothing of poetic fame. With a little help from you I'm sure I can cooperate the whole thing. I'm a natural poet anyhow, you know."

"How can I help you?" she asked as she felt a sinking of the heart.

"On the rhymes. Two heads are better than one when you want to think of words. Pocahontas was an Indian girl, wasn't she?"

"Yes."

"And when her father was going to brain Captain John Smith with a club she stepped in and stayed his hand?"

"I believe so."

"Well, I'll fix that up in short order. Let me get paper and pencil. Now I'll go ahead till I get stuck and then you help me out. What in blazes is that old cat grinning at me for?"

The cat was sitting in the middle of the room with something like a grin on her face as she looked from Bowser to Mrs. Bowser and back, but when he jumped at her she retired under the piano and waited for results. For five minutes the natural poet sat and looked up at the ceiling and tapped his teeth with his pencil, and then he bent forward and began:

"They had him out to die—
A soldier bold;
And a warlike uplifted,
As we are told.

"That's the way I lead off, and what do you think of it?" he asked as he handed the sheet over to Mrs. Bowser.

"Why, it reads all right," she said after a minute; "but it seems to me that you ought to have got in the name of Pocahontas at the very first."

"Yes, maybe I did. I'll try it that way."

There was the deepest kind of silence for the next fifteen minutes, and Mr. Bowser wrote and scratched out and wrote again. Then he leaned back and said:

"I shall have to get your help. I can't go no further than:

"Oh, thou dusky Pocahontas,
From the camp of Squawwawantus,
A soldier's life you saved,
And a father's anger braved,
That—that—"

That's where I want help. I've got to work in 'days' or 'ways' or 'plays' or 'works' to make the rhyme."

"Who was Squawwawantus?" asked Mrs. Bowser with a puzzled look on her face.

"He was her father, probably."

"But he was not. This incident is a matter of history, and has been published in all the schoolbooks, and you mustn't make such a break as that."

"Didn't you ever hear that there was such a thing as poetic license?" he demanded as his eyes began to flash.

"Of course I have; but you can't invent a character named Squawwawantus to rhyme with Washington. You'll have to drop Squawwawantus."

"And you—you—who don't know poetry from penmanship, find fault with my efforts?" gasped Mr. Bowser as he rose up. "Woman, your impudence is astounding!"

"I am only saying that there was no Indian chief named Squawwawantus," she replied.

"But what has that got to do with me—with my poem?" he shouted. "Is there a goddess of poetry, and yet how many poems have been dedicated to her?"

"But Squawwawantus!"

"Squawwawantus be hanged! Woman, leave me alone. You have no sympathy with my efforts or ambitions, and I was an idiot for saying anything to you. Get out and leave me to work it out alone, and by the great horned spoon, if I don't produce something to make all America set up and howl, then my name is not Bowser."

"You won't break anything?" she faltered as she rose up to go.

"How break anything?"

"A suspender—a blood vessel—any bones?"

He was looking around for a crowbar to strike her dead when she passed quietly up stairs, and the cat came out of retirement and put it down in her notebook that the performance was not yet half over. For ten minutes after being left alone Mr. Bowser walked up and down to recover from his perturbation, and when he had somewhat recovered himself he sat down to his subject again. It was hard to pick up the thread again, but he finally got another verse and smiled blandly as he read it over:

"The moon it was bright
And the candles alight
As John Smith he was led out to die;
His grief none can tell
As he took a farewell
And wiped a sad tear from his eye."

But after a minute the smile faded. Mr. Bowser remembered that Captain Smith didn't weep when he was led out. Miss Pocahontas would never have stood up and defied her father for the sake of saving a booby.

"It won't do—it won't do," he said as he laid the page aside and began over again, and the clock had ticked off half an hour before his next was ready. It read:

"Come forth to die," the chieftain said
Unto the captive Smith,
And in his hand a bludgeon held
To give him fatal bid.

It wouldn't do. "Biff" sounded too much like prizefighting, like giving Kid McCoy a biff on the jaw. The cat was a sympathetic spectator of Mr. Bowser's efforts to find another word to rhyme, and she uttered a meow to show her feelings, but he didn't even leave a book at her. He sat and thought and thought, and he walked around and scratched his head and thought some more, but things wouldn't come his way. It was easy enough to get as far as—

I sang tonight of the maid
Who the numerous bludgeon stayed, but he couldn't get further on that line. When hours had passed and the town slept, grim despair seized Mr. Bowser's heart. He fought like a man, but it overpowered him at last, and at

The New Year's Card

How It Began and The Many Processes It Went Through

W HAT an ordinary, uninteresting item in our social life is the modern visiting card! But this was not always so, though it has barely been in existence 150 years. It owed its origin to the custom of writing the name or sometimes a message on the back of a playing card, says a writer in the Washington Post. Occasionally one particular card was chosen with intent, and the Duchess of Devonshire received an apt epigram in return for one she sent to a well known clergyman. The verses read as follows: "You sent me ten hearts, the times only nine. So give me one heart and burn 't other nine."

Toward the end of the last century the visiting cards of the upper classes were veritable works of art, and by their means many most interesting types of engraving survive. They were of varying size, but the majority not larger than about two and a half inches by two inches, while today those used by gentlemen are two inches by one and a half inches and by ladies four inches by two and a half inches. There were many square ones used about 1780 to 1790. One belonging to an English society leader of a century ago dates from Illole street, Cavendish square, a spot associated with Lord Byron. Her husband's card is smaller and has a sketch of the family home in one corner, which still remains in the possession of their collateral descendants. The notion is so good it deserves to be followed, for it would certainly add to the interest of the cards we leave to each other if they bore the semblance of our friends' homes as well as their names.

Another example shows that history repeats itself, for, although issued in the eighteenth century, the lady was "at home on Monday," as many modern dames are now. Visiting on blank, as it was called—viz, by leaving a card—was a novelty then, and on many which come from Italy "in person" is written, showing that they had been left and not sent by a servant.

These are the simpler class of cards. A vast number of others in use at this time show the ruling powers in decoration. Hundreds of the decorative designs bear the names of contemporary duchesses, or, rather, according to the ancient spelling, "duchesses"—St. Albans, Bolton and Gratton among the number. The latter, according to Horace Walpole, saved her life by playing loo when in Rome, instead of going to a party at a palace where the roof fell in.

Many of the "tickets," as visiting cards were called in those days, were engraved with architectural buildings in Rome, Berlin and elsewhere and long in fashion. They were sold in packets. The names were frequently written upon them, and even when they were printed it was rare that one particular pattern was kept for any special person. The head of a well known Warwickshire family during a visit to Rome in 1783 kept, and has handed down, those left by his acquaintance. On these figure the arch of Titus, St. Peter's, the castle of St. Angelo and many other lions of Rome.

Not a few of the visiting cards of this period recall nothing so much as the funeral monuments of those days. Sometimes the names appear on well engraved vases, sometimes on climbing plants, and sometimes on a variety of animals. The cognomens of naval officers emerge from the midst of spikes, anchors, ropes, flags and other naval insignia, while military officers appear surrounded by helmets, cannon, tents and soldiers. Artists figure amid palettes, brushes and other adjuncts of their art, mostly accompanied by a graceful female form and every kind of musical instrument has been called into play—lyres, harps, trumpets and harpsichords—for musicians. Birds of many kinds hold scrolls bearing the names in their beaks, or they are written on their breasts or outstretched wings. Animals often play a double part. The name of Flare, for example, is represented as a rebus by that little animal running at full speed, while a goat figured on the fashionable designs of 1783. Archery, agriculture and sport generally left their impress on the visiting card.

About 1816 pure white cards with embossed borders and large embossed letterings were the prevalent mode. History again repeats itself—the daughter's name appeared then with her mother's, as it does now. How many of the titles then extant have died out! It very often happened that the lady's cards and the gentleman's were of the same size, but not always. For her "ticket" the Duchess of Leeds in 1764 favored a very pretty engraving of a Chinese figure looking over a low doorway, with an Anglicized pagoda at the side. On another card bearing a famous lord's name figures a powerful engraving of the sphinx, with the Egyptian pyramids in the rear.

Many a great dame of those days had her name on her visiting card surrounded by a framework held by Cupids. These were far prettier than the somber looking cards covered with close set, engraved, horizontal lines and a very deep border. Monograms and coronets figured on some of them and have left to posterity fine specimens of steel engraving, but the most elaborate of heraldic cards were generally foreign, and some of the for eign embassies employed colored crests occasionally introduced in the center.

FOR PLAINTIFF

JURY RENDERED VERDICT ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

In Case of Mary E. Shannon Against City of Newark—Will be Carried Up on Error.

In the case of Mary E. Shannon vs. The City of Newark, which was submitted to the jury Friday evening, the jury agreed upon their verdict Friday evening, but, under instructions from the Judge, sealed it up to be opened on Monday morning. The verdict was opened this morning, and it was found for one thousand dollars in behalf of the plaintiff.

This action arose on account of an accident which happened on the evening of November 11th, 1898. Mrs. Shannon, with her sister, was going from her place of residence to visit a friend on Jefferson street, and in so doing, passed around the Braunhold corner from Fifth on Wilson street, and fell down the cellarway on the south side of the Braunhold building. She was precipitated some eight or nine feet, receiving injuries. She was taken to her home on South Third street, and Dr. Miller called, who found that her shoulder was dislocated and her arm fractured. He reduced the fracture and dislocation. She brought suit against the city for $10,000 damages by her attorneys, Judge S. M. Hunter and J. A. Flory.

Mrs. Shannon is a widow of about 50 years of age, and her means of livelihood is nursing in private families. She contended that on account of the severity of the shock and dislocation of her shoulder joint, that since that time it has been impossible for her to raise her arm or exercise her arm in any way that requires strength, as in lifting, and that therefore it was impossible for her to do heavy nursing. She also contended that her injury is permanent and that she will never be well again.

The city contended that her shoulder was neither dislocated nor fractured, and one doctor testified that the shoulder was not dislocated, and another doctor testified absolutely that her arm was broken and her shoulder dislocated. It was also contended that the opening to the cellarway had been closed, and she contended that the opening to the cellarway had been left open.

The city claimed that the cellarway was not on Wilson street but on the Braunhold property exclusively, and that if anybody was liable the Braunholds were liable, but as a matter of fact nobody was liable, claiming that she was guilty of contributory negligence herself in falling down.

The case was first tried at the last Spring term of court, and a verdict rendered in favor of defendant. This verdict was set aside and the case again came on trial at the present term of court.

The jury was sworn on Wednesday and went down and viewed the place where the accident occurred, and on Friday evening the case was submitted to the jury.

The case on the part of the city was attended to, while in office, by T. B. Fulton, City Solicitor, went out of office, his successor, Phil E. Smythe, City Solicitor, took charge of the case for the city and who conducted the trial of the case to the jury at the last Spring term, when a verdict was returned in favor of the City, and also at the present term.

There are a number of questions of law involved in the case, which have not yet been decided by the higher court, for which reason the case will go up on error.

Neuralgia.

The Prayer of a Nerve for More Blood.

Neuralgia may attack any part of the body but most frequently occurs where the nerves are most abundant. In the head. Sometimes the heart nerves seem to twist. Tinging rheumatic pains of the extremities.

Sharp and intense at times. In the intervals dull and heavy. Neuralgia is the result of impoverished blood, caused by impairment of the nerves, a lack of nerve force.

It is a disease of the nerve centers, and the pains accompanying it are a prayer for better nourishment. They are the danger signals which warn you against a total collapse of the nervous system.

Liniments and all external applications can only give temporary relief. Permanent cure cannot possibly come until the nerve centers are thoroughly revitalized by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. The beneficial effects of this great nerve restorative are felt thrilling through the nerve fibres as week by week and month by month the nerve force of the body is restored. Women afflicted with diseases peculiar to their sex are frequently great sufferers from neuralgia. Dr. Chase's Nerve Pills positively cure both these disorders by filling the nervous system with new vigor and life. 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. The genuine has portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on each package.

They stopped the headache, the neuralgia disappeared and with it the stomach trouble."

"Rev." Howard Arraigned. Detroit, Dec. 16.—G. B. F. Howard, who was arrested Thursday upon his release from the penitentiary at Columbus, O., and brought to this city to answer to three indictments for alleged offenses against the postoffice department in 1899 while living at Horton, Mich., was arraigned in the United States court. Howard waived the reading of the indictments and informed the court that he would conduct his own case. Judge Swan fixed bail at $2,000, which was not furnished.

A Ghastly Find. Logansport, Ind., Dec. 16.—While a young lad was skating on Bel river he ran across the arm and hand of a man frozen in the ice. The ghastly find developed that John Leffert's body was beneath, frozen stiff, and a suspicion of foul play is hinted at. He was well-to-do and enterprising citizen.

Troops Leave. Madisonville, Ky., Dec. 16.—All the troops of the Kentucky state guard, which have been on duty here for the past four weeks, have been withdrawn. PROF. F. H. HUNDLEY OF DENISON UNIVERSITY

Addressed a Large and Delighted Audience Sunday Afternoon on an Interesting Subject.

Notwithstanding the cold spell of Sunday afternoon the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. was well attended, and those braving the temperature were well repaid for the effort. Prof. F. H. Hundley of Denison University was announced to speak on the subject of "Some Lessons from the Successful Life."

From the practical manner characterizing the presentation of the subject, the judgment of the hearers arrived at quickly was that Prof. Hundley was a man's man, and approached the question of practical thought from a man's standpoint. The speaker called attention to the many striking characters of history. Turning to sacred history he spoke of Moses and others as men of the very highest type of Christian character, but having one failing, an uncontrollable temper. Yet notwithstanding their failing in this respect they were men of power because of sterling character. Many other characters were mentioned, such as Joshua, David, Daniel and others. But the speaker desired to call the attention of his hearers to one man, and his successful life, viz: Joseph. Joseph was brought up a farmer boy, was reared on a farm and through the jealousy of his brothers, was sold into slavery into Egypt. But even the heartless rulers of that land were capable of discerning that fitness of character which was the possession of this Jewish boy. Joseph grew in favor with the rulers of that land; was advanced to high positions of authority through the strength of his sterling character. In having the manhood to resist the temptations set before him of a wicked woman, the wife of the king; had the manhood to go to prison for character's sake; was afterwards advanced to the highest station save one in authority that the government had to offer. Such is this brief story of a successful life, unwilling to yield to the temptations of a commercial life but was determined to stand for truth and uprightness in the face of opposition. The speaker emphasized that the success in life depended upon the quality of character possessed. Fidelity and service to his employer could well be illustrated by two men whom the speaker at one time had occasion to observe at work. One man, who when in the act of driving a nail, actually had the hammer raised in the air to strike the blow when the dinner bell rang, and the nail remained undriven. The other man, whose interest was not only centered in the work he was doing but in his employer's interest, would often be found at his post fifteen minutes or more after the sounding of the gong. In this case true success is not marked by time, but by devotion to service. Success means the attainment of one's end. The commercial spirit says: "Get money, a good bank account," and often a man's standing in society is measured by the size of check his name will be honored for at the bank. To get a man's actual weight you would not fill his pockets with extra weights, but would strip him of every thing that you may get at the facts of his true weight. Strip a man of his money bag and he will be found to be much lighter than was at first estimated. He went on to press home the thought that a successful life depended not upon what a man did nor what he possesses, but what he actually was. Character is the thing a man can neither give to another or take away from him.

Those who attended this meeting will not soon forget the straight forward and practical talk by Prof. Hundley. The song service was participated in by all. Mrs. E. G. Fitzgerald and Mr. R. P. Williams sang a duet which was greatly appreciated by all present.

Wauson, O., Dec. 18.—An explosion occurred at the city waterworks plant. Frank Dickey, engineer, was so badly injured that he died from the shock, and Frank Sams was seriously burned on the face. The roofs of the engine and boiler rooms were blown off, three walls wrecked and the woodwork in the brick structure was nearly all burned. Gas and water were escaping from a well which had not been used for a few days, and the rooms were soon filled with gas, which ignited by the fire in the engine.

OUTBREAK ON LUZON

Filipinos Said to Be Planning a General Uprising.

MANILLA A HOTBED OF DISCONTENT.

Americans Reported to Have Taken Precautions to Stamp Out a Widespread Revival of the Spirit of Revolt—Activity in the Provinces. General Torres Pardoned.

Peking, Dec. 16.—A private letter received here from an American general at Manila, whose position gives his statements the highest authority, says that secret service reports from all the provinces of the island of Luzon show a widespread revival of the spirit of rebellion there. This letter says the American army expects a general outbreak throughout the island of Luzon, and is taking vigorous measures to suppress it. Manila is the center of discontent. General Chaffee has frequent parades of the garrison through the city's streets to display American strength and fear of an attempt at a general massacre of Americans. Arrangements have been perfected to concentrate American women and children in the public buildings on short notice.

Tries Concentration.
Manilla, Dec. 16.—General Bell has notified the natives in Batangas that on Dec. 28 he purposes to concentrate them in the neighborhood of the towns. He will move their live stock, rice, etc., to within the limits of concentration. After that date, everything outside these limits will be confiscated. The roads from Batangas and Laguna provinces are lined with a continuous stream of native men, women and children, in caravans, carts, and mounted on carabao, seeking safety from the horrors of war.

General Torres Released.
Manilla, Dec. 16.—The insurgent general Torres, who was found guilty by a military commission of ordering the assassination of an American corporal and sentenced to be hanged, but whose sentence was disapproved by General Chaffee, broke down when he was released. He said it was just that his life should be spared because he was innocent of the crime imputed to him. Torres says he is submissive to the existing conditions.

Car Barns Burned.
Chicago, Dec. 16.—The total destruction of the Lincoln avenue car barns of the Chicago Traction company, with more than 160 streetcars, resulted from a fire. Beside the building nearly all the grip cars and trailers used on the Lincoln avenue line were destroyed. The fire hydrants in the vicinity were found to be frozen. When a supply of water had been obtained by thawing out the hydrants, after a delay of 20 minutes, the building was doomed. President John M. Roach of the traction company placed the loss at about $130,000. It is supposed the fire originated from an overheated stove in one of the cars that were in the barn. The heavy east wall of the building fell across Sheffield avenue and flying bricks demolished the front of a saloon opposite, doing damage to the extent of $20,000.

Important Arrests.
Knoxville, Dec. 16.—A man who the police say is the one who shot two Knoxville policemen Thursday night, and who they first thought was Harry Longbaugh, but now believe is Harvey Logan, alleged to have been concerned in the Montana robbery, was captured with a companion one mile from Jefferson City, Tenn., 20 miles from Knoxville. The escape of the man that shot the policemen was followed by the discovery of a flood of unsigned $20 Montana banknotes, and on the person of the man arrested was found over $5,000 of the stolen bills. A man who gave his name as Wilson was captured in a wood by a posse. Police officers are almost certain that they have both Longbaugh and Harvey Logan. Wilson fills Logan's description.

Schley May Go Into Court.
Baltimore, Dec. 16.—Rear Admiral W. S. Schley has notified Attorney General Isidor Rayner that he is ready to take any action with reference to his case that Mr. Rayner may advise. When asked whether he favored a congressional investigation, Mr. Rayner said: "I doubt whether a proceeding of this sort is the proper one. It generally assumes a political aspect. At this time I am of the opinion that the matter should be prosecuted in the courts. There are plenty of ways in which this can be done, and this week we will begin to consult and determine upon our course of action."

Mrs. Dennis Worse.
Washington, Dec. 16.—There was a slight change for the worse in the condition of Mrs. Ada Gilbert Dennis, the fashionable dressmaker, who was so murderously assaulted last Monday night while in her bed at her residence on K street. There has been no improvement in her mental condition and detectives have not been able to obtain from her anything that will lead to the identity of the assailant. Efforts to obtain information regarding the assailant from other sources have been equally unsuccessful.

Fatal Explosion.
Wauson, O., Dec. 18.—An explosion occurred at the city waterworks plant. Frank Dickey, engineer, was so badly injured that he died from the shock, and Frank Sams was seriously burned on the face. The roofs of the engine and boiler rooms were blown off, three walls wrecked and the woodwork in the brick structure was nearly all burned. Gas and water were escaping from a well which had not been used for a few days, and the rooms were soon filled with gas, which ignited by the fire in the engine.

Dear Sirs:—For almost fifteen years I suffered from indigestion and last winter thought I would die, when my physician, Dr. A. J. Lincum of this place, advised my trying Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which I did, and two bottles cured me. It not only relieved me, but it cured me so that I have not been troubled since.

If any one should offer me $500 for the good Syrup Pepsin has done me, I would not think of taking it. No one can take your medicine without being convinced of its more than wonderful cures. I recommend it to all my friends as a laxative and stomach remedy. Yours with gratitude,

BY WIND AND FLOODS

Untold Damage Done In Pennsylvania and the East.

SOME LOSS OF LIFE ALSO RESULT.

Heavy Rains Melt the Snows In the Mountains and Make Raging Seas of Rivers and Creeks—Towns Inundated, Railways Blocked and Valuable Property Destroyed.

Philadelphia, Dec. 16.—A storm which, for severity and destructive force, has not been equalled in this section for 25 years, visited eastern and central Pennsylvania, causing almost unprecedented damage and resulting in the loss of at least four human lives. The havoc in the coal regions is enormous and the loss to railroad and mining companies will amount to millions of dollars. The Schuylkill, Lehigh, Susquehanna and Juniata rivers have risen as high as 15 feet above their levels, and all of their tributaries have overflowed, inundating the surrounding country in more than a dozen counties. Innumerable washouts have occurred on the Pennsylvania, Philadelphia and Reading, Northern Central, Lehigh Valley, New Jersey Central and Lackawanna railroads. Bridges were carried away and traffic is at a standstill.

The force of water weakened the supports of a bridge spanning a creek near Williamsport, and as a result a freight train was wrecked and three men killed. At Onondaga, near Hazleton, a mine was swept from a bridge and drowned. In the Schuylkill valley 48 mines were flooded, and in the Lehigh and Lackawanna regions the destruction is equally great. Hundreds of miles were drowned in the collieries, and it will be weeks before many of the mines can resume operations. In some sections the water reached the second stories of dwellings, and the town of Westmore, near Wilkesbarre, is submerged. Many of the residents have left their homes in boats. Similar conditions exist along the Juniata river.

Havoc In New York.

New York, Dec. 16.—Warm weather and rain, followed by high winds, have resulted in fearful damage all over New York state. The snows in the northern sections thawed rapidly, causing the rivers and creeks to rise and the valleys were inundated. Heavy rain followed during the night, accompanied by winds of great velocity. Trains were blocked for many hours, landslides were frequent, and in the lowlands and valleys hundreds of dwellings were flooded, while the damage to farm lands and buildings is very great. Few lives so far have been reported as lost. Coming reports that the Chemung and Canisteo valleys have had the biggest flood since June 1892. The Chemung and Canisteo rivers overflowed their banks, and for miles east and west the lowlands are flooded and great damage has been done. At Ithaca the damage is estimated at $200,000. The flood was the most disastrous experienced since 1857. Reports of destruction of railway bridges, the bursting of dams, flooding of villages and railway washouts are coming in from over the affected area. The total damage will be enormous.

Tracks Submerged.

Bedford, Pa., Dec. 16.—One of the heaviest wind and rain storms in its history visited Bedford. The rain fell in torrents and a fierce gale shook the buildings. The Raystown branch reached its highest point since the Johnstown flood. It overflowed the tracks of the Bedford division, Pennsylvania railroad, flooded one or two houses in the western end of town and rushed through the power house of the Bedford Electric Light, Heat and Power company, doing considerable damage. A train was delayed nearly two hours by a landslide near Saxton. The trestle at Lybarger's farm was washed away.

Pittsburg's Rivers Rising.

Pittsburg, Dec. 16.—Pittsburg's three rivers have passed the danger line and are still rising, with reports from the headwaters of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers stating that both streams were still rising. Considerable damage will result from the unexpected rise and inability of ships and river men to tie craft securely before the crest of the rise arrived. Seventy-five coal barges which were tied up at Brown's Landing, between Pittsburg and Davis Island dam, broke loose and were whirled away by the swift current.

Serious Damage.

Easton, Pa., Dec. 16.—The freshet in the Delaware and Lehigh rivers has done serious damage all through this section. Railroad traffic is suspended and the water has risen to front street in this city. Telegraph and telephone communication is interrupted. The rivers are still rising at the rate of a foot an hour. Thousands of dollars damage has already been done to the big industries at West Easton.

High Winds.

Lancaster, Pa., Dec. 16.—A rain and wind storm of great fury raged here. Many houses were unroofed, including Fulton's opera house, Hotel Lincoln, the Stevens House and St. Mary's Catholic church. Some streets were strewn with limbs torn from trees and bricks of dismantled chimneys. In the country the storm was not so severe, though at Columbia roofs were blown from a number of houses.

Cold Wave Dissipated.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Reports from nearly every section of the west and northwest indicate that the backbone of the cold wave has been broken. Strong south winds prevail and the temperature is rising at all points.

THE W. C. T. U.

At the W. C. T. U. meeting on the Tuesday devotional hour was in charge of Mrs. King, who read a part of Matthew 14: and gave a helpful talk concerning the talents given us. This was followed by prayer and singing. Mrs. Sisson, the president, presided. The Bible leaflet was read by Mrs. Brown.

Next Tuesday there will be a mothers' meeting in charge of the superintendent, Mrs. B. F. Patt, who urges members of the union to be present and bring their friends. The Scripture lesson will be read by Mrs. Upham, general conversation along the line of motherhood and different dispositions of children in the same families. Light refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Sisson insists on parents sending their children to the meeting, which are held at Plymouth Congregational church every Sunday at 2:30 p. m. The juvenile officers have been elected and promise to be very helpful. The superintendent and other ladies visited the children's home and through the kindness of Superintendent and Mrs. Craig organized a Local Temperance Legion of 52 children. These meetings will be held every Friday afternoon.

All who desire to renew their subscriptions to the Union Signal can do so by handing their money to Mrs. Watson, superintendent of literature. The amount is $1 until January 1, 1902. The amount in literature coming to the Union for distribution.

A greeting from Lady Henry Somerset:

Dear Friends:—Through you beloved president, Mrs. Stevens, I want to send a word of greeting to my sisters of the W. C. T. U. It seems to me that every year, as the work grows harder and the way home shorter, we are drawn closer in the bonds of our blessed comradeship, and as you gather it always seems to me that in your midst there is the guardian spirit of our sweet Saint Frances. May God bless all your deliberations, and all your plans for the future as He has so abundantly blessed them in the past. No better proof exists of the foundations upon which the W. C. T. U. is built than the fact of the increased membership of these last years.

I thank God that He has given you so wise, so balanced and so gentle a leader. I know all the work that she and Anna Gordon, your untiring vice president at large, accomplished. No one has ever been more imbued with the spirit of all Miss Willard's plans for the work than Anna Gordon; no one has learned her lesson of self-sacrifice better.

As I write I think of all the dear faces of my friends and I am praying that next November may see us united with the World's Woman's Christian Temperance Union in the beautiful city of Ottawa, for although America will seem very empty to me without that nearest spirit, I think of all the kindness and the love that you have shown me and to greet you again will be a gladness. May God bless you all. Your affectionate sister and friend,

TEMPERANCE PUNCH BOWL

To Be Kept Hospitably Full on New Year's Day.

If we are to follow one of the jolly old customs bequeathed us by our English forefathers, we must keep the punch bowl hospitably full through the holiday week. But even if this is not prepared for the week's celebration it must not be neglected for New Year's cheer.

For those who are glad to emphasize the good cheer which this custom typifies, but who for conscience sake prefer a temperance beverage, the following concoction is recommended: Take the juice of three lemons and three oranges, one pineapple shredded from the core with a silver fork, one quart can of strawberries, one table-spoonful of Ceylon tea, one quart of boiling water; pour the water on the tea and let it stand fifteen minutes. Add to the fruit one or two cups of sugar, according to acidity, and let it stand half an hour. When the tea is cold, add to the fruit and sugar one quart of apollinaris water and a block of ice; leave the pulp of the orange, as well as the shredded pineapple and berries, in the punch. In serving this slices of lemon are placed in each glass. If canned pineapple is used, lessen the quantity of sugar.

This forms a delicious concoction, and by keeping the various ingredients prepared in quantity they are quickly mixed as desired, and there need be no lack of this particular "good cheer," no matter how many callers may "drop in" for the New Year's greetings.

"SYLVESTER ABEND."

A Pretty Custom Observed In Berlin on New Year's Eve.

It was with much pleasant anticipation we awaited the approach of "Sylvester Abend," as they call New Year's eve in Germany, says a writer in The Woman's Home Companion. About 10 o'clock, supper being ended, we all adjourned to the parlor, where they danced until almost midnight. Then refreshments were served. These consisted of queer little cakes made especially for the holiday season, apples, nuts and Berliner plankuchen, which are perfectly delicious. The latter look like large brown doughnuts covered with sugar. On opening them they are found to be filled with jam. Our Christmas tree was relighted, having been furnished with new candles.

The ringing of the bells announced the beginning of the new year. Guns were fired, and from the church lofts bugles were sounded. Later all the windows were flung wide open, and, standing within them, the people held up their glasses and called out, "Prosit Neujahr!" to every one who passed by. People on the street called in to us. Even the droshky coachmen, as they drove by, called out, "Prosit Neujahr!" Of all the pretty customs in Germany, I thought this the prettiest. Not only to your friends do you wish a happy new year, but to all.

The First Thing In Order.

Castleton—Jim, is this, indeed, you? You have kept, then, to the promise made when we parted ten years ago that we would meet on the corner Jan. 1, 1902. Shake, old man! Now that we have met, what shall we do? Jim—I've got a great scheme. If you'll lend me five dollars, I'll borrow it.

New Year's at Frankfurt.

By far the most charming of the German New Year's customs is one observed from time immemorial in Frankfurt-am-Main. There at the same moment the whole city salutes itself—wishes itself a happy new year. On the night of Dec. 31 all the city keeps the festival, watching the old year out and the new year in. Family parties or gatherings of friends are to be found in every house. Games, stories, music and kindred diversions, with an honorable attention to eating and drinking, serve to speed on the last hours of the dying year.

Suddenly at the exact moment when from the great dome of the cathedral the first stroke of midnight sounds its warning every house throws wide open its windows. Forth from the casements lean all the dwellers in the town, old and young together, each with glass in hand. The glass is raised on high, and the words of the toast burst on the astonished air of night in one massive tone born of more than 100,000 voices joined in the cry, "Prosit neujahr!" ("Happy new year.")

An Odd New Year's Proverb.

In Lincolnshire, where every tongue is tipped with a proverb, the saying for New Year's runs:

Take out, then take in.
Bad luck will begin.
Take in, then take out,
Good luck comes about.

From this no doubt is derived a belief, common among negroes in many parts of the south, that it is an ill omen for the coming year to take anything, even a trifle, from a house on Jan. 1 until something has been brought in.

AMUSEMENTS.

The social and musical event of the week is the appearance of the Bostonians at the Auditorium tomorrow night, December 17, in the new comic opera, "Maid Marian," written by DeKoven and Smith, the authors of "Robin Hood." This work is the sequel to the above named opera and is said to have the same sparkling quality of music in the score, the same essence of humor and romance in the story, that caught the popular fancy in the older composition. All the favorites are said to have congenial roles, and the introduction of several young singers whose youth, beauty and talent are said to be features, will make the production of "Maid Marian" of more than ordinary interest to theatre goers generally. A chorus of 100 voices and an orchestra of 30 musicians have been engaged especially for this production and it will be given here on the same scale of splendor as will mark its production in New York where it will shortly be taken. Auditorium tomorrow night.

Perhaps no name among the prominent ones in the theatrical world is more familiar to the general public than that of Mr. Arthur Dunn, the comedian. Distinctly original in style and possessed of a quaint and unique personality upon the stage that peculiarly fits him for the part of "Flipper," in the Augustin Daly London and New York success "A Runaway Girl." Mr. Dunn has increased his hold upon his many admirers by his very clever and artistic performance of that role.

Those who have seen this production can readily understand the many requirements demanded of the artist who assumes the part of "Flipper," the jockey. As its name implies, he must be flip of speech, small of stature, nimble of foot, quick of action, and alert and wide awake always. He must be able to sing a song or a dozen of them, dance a jig or a reel, be quick and pointed in repartee, and conceal his identity of face, figure and speech at a moment's notice. This wonderful versatility Mr. Arthur Dunn possesses perhaps more than any artist in America. It has enabled him to score a very decided and pronounced success in this production.

Mr. Dunn will be seen in conjunction with some fifty other artists comprising the Augustin Daly Company which presents "A Runaway Girl" at the Auditorium Thursday night, Dec. 13.

The play is a clean-cut musical comedy from George Edwardes' Gaiety Theatre, London, and Daly's Theatre, New York City. The company appearing in the production is composed of metropolitan artists of high standing.

The comedy will be staged, costumed and interpreted as befits the standard established by the name it bears, that of Augustin Daly, a sure guarantee of all that is clean, artistic, meritorious and enjoyable.
